En søndagstur

Jeg låser mig ud af huset ved ti tiden. Kirkens klokke melder til samling, men det er nu ikke mit ærinde. Jeg har indtaget en god brunch, og i min lille rygsæk har jeg foruden kameraet en lille kande med kaffe og et par stykker rugbrød. Endnu en termoflaske er fyldt med isnen-de koldt vand. Det kan blive varmt senere på dagen.

Måske har det regnet om natten. Alt virker så frodigt i mine naboers haver, og fuglene synger højere, end de plejer. Himlen er fyldt med flotte sommerskyer. Det kan give mere regn, men jeg elsker den danske sommers foranderlige vejr.

Normalt skulle jeg nu gå i kanten af trafikerede veje, men det nye stisystem muliggør, at jeg kan skyde genvej, og endog hele vejen vandre på en lille jordsti i skel og langs grøfter.

Det nye stisystem giver mig mulighed for at vandre hele vejen ud til kanten af Lille Vildmose. Det er en tur på grusstier, markvej og hyggelige små jordstier. Overalt er der udsigt til frodige marker, og stierne er omgivet af buskads og alskens smukke sommerblomster.

Turen går forbi den gamle præstegård og så i kanten af markskel op til markvejen, der fører op til Fladen med den smukke udsigt fra gravhøjene over store dele af egnen. Fra Fladen fører stien bag om et af Danmarks største kalkgrave. Ved Sigs-gård tager jeg endnu en markvej, indtil jeg når Kællingbjerg klinten, og dermed stisystemet i Lille Vildmose.

På vejen møder jeg mange mennesker. Et par løbere, der løber forbi med et glad smil, og på en kaffeplet med bænk og bord træffer jeg nogle unge par med barnevogne nede fra byen. Jeg har aldrig mødt dem før, men over en kop kaffe får vi en sludder om byen, landskabet og også om den nærhed, vi alle så gerne vil skabe nede i byen.

Selv om de virker meget unge, så fortæller de, at de har købt en villa. Lige nu er priserne for huse lave i byen, men de fortæller, at det nu er ved at forandre sig. Rygterne om de nye spændende muligheder i byen har nået andre unge, der nu kommer og vurderer, om et hus på landet med en fantastisk adgang til natur og fællesskab er noget for dem.

På en af markerne kører en landmand rundt med en avanceret maskine. Han har været på arbejde i lang tid og har nu valgt at stå op i sin store traktor. Vi giver hinanden en hilsen med en vinkende hånd.

Jeg har egentligt ikke noget, jeg skal nå. Og dog, Jeg har lavet en aftale med det nye flexbus-system, der nu helt har erstattet det håbløst forældede system med de store busser, der flere gange om dagen kører næsten tomme på langs ad Østhimmerland fra Aalborg til Hadsund. Nu kan jeg bestille en lille vogn til et bestemt sted og tidspunkt, og det koster ikke ret mange penge – som pensionist får jeg endog rabat.

Det blev en dejlig dag. Jeg fik min motion, jeg mødte nogle dejlige mennesker og jeg fik da vist også nogle flotte fotografier med hjem fra min gåtur i det nye stisystem.

Måske bliver det en dag virkelighed?

A sunday walk

I let out myself of the house at 10 a.m. They ring the church bell for divine service, but it is not my errand. I have made a good brunch, and in my small backpack in addition to my camera I have a small vacuum jug of coffee and a few rye breads. Another bottle is filled with icy cold water. It may get hot later in the day.

Maybe it has been raining at night. Everything seems so lush in my neighbours' gardens, and the birds sing louder than they used to. The sky is filled with beautiful summer clouds. It may bring more rain, but I love the changeable weather of the Danish summer.

Now, I normally should walk at roadside of busy roads, but the new system of paths allows me to take a short cut, and then all the way walk on a small footpath across the fields and along the ditches. The new path system allows me to walk all the way to the edge of the bog, Lille Vildmose. It is a walk on unpaved roads, dirt roads and nice small tracks. Everywhere there are views of lush fields, and the trails are surrounded by shrubbery and all the beautiful summer flowers.

I walk past the old rectory and then at the field boundary to the dirt road leading up to the place called Fladen. Fladen with the grave mounds and the beautiful view to large parts of the neighbourhood. From Fladen the path leads behind one of Denmark's largest limeworks. At the location Sigsgård I take another dirt road until I reach the cliff called Kællingbjerg, and thus the path system in the moor Lille Vild-

On my way, I meet a lot of people. A couple of joggers running pass with a happy smile, and on a coffee spot with bench and table I meet some young couples with prams down from the town. I have never met them before but while drinking a cup of coffee we get a chat about the town, the countryside and also about the proximity we all want to create down in our town.

Although they seem young, they have bought a villa. Right now, the prices for houses are low in the town, but they tell me, that it is now changing.

In one of the fields, a farmer drives around with an advanced machine. He has been at work for a long time and now, he has chosen to stand up in his large tractor. We give each other a greeting with a waving hand.

I have plenty of time. And yet, I have made an agreement with the new flexbus system, which has now completely replaced the hopelessly outdated system with the large buses, which several times a day run almost empty along East Himmerland from Aalborg to Hadsund. Now I can book a small car for a specific place and time, and it does not cost much money – as a pensioner I even get a discount.

It was a lovely day. I got my exercise; I met some lovely people and I also took some nice photographs from my walk in the new path system.

Maybe one day it is going to be reality?
