Hold ud!

Det sene efterår op mod årsskiftet kan være mørk, kold og give en stemning af forfald og modløshed.

De vandmættede jorde gør dagens gåtur tung. Horisonten er skjult af den kolde dis. Alt er fugtigt. Nu hvor de grønne blade er borte, fremstår træerne nøgne, og det er lige som alt død vegetation får en mere fremtrædende rolle i landskabsbilledet. De døde, udgåede træer strækker deres tilbageblevne grene mod himlen, som en sidste bøn om det evige liv.

Men hold ud! Om kun få uger når vi igen solhverv. Solen når den dag den laveste højde over horisonten, men fra da af går vi igen mod de lyse tider.

Men denne mistrøstige årstid har også sin charme. Jeg skutter mig i den kolde, fugtige luft og prøver at indfange den intense stemning i dette stemningsfulde landskab.

Do not give up!

The late autumn towards the turn of the year can be dark and cold and give a mood of decay and depression.

The water-saturated soils make today's walk heavy. The horizon is hidden by the cold haze. Everything is damp cold. Now when the green leaves are gone, the trees appear bare, and it is like all dead vegetation takes on a more prominent role in the landscape. The dead, expired trees stretch their remaining branches to heaven as a final prayer for eternal life.

But do not give up! In only a few weeks, we again will reach the solstice. On that day the sun reaches the lowest height above the horizon, but from then on, we again head towards the bright times.

But this despondent time of year also has its charm. I shake myself in the cold, moist air and try to capture the intense atmosphere of this landscape with its depth of feeling.
