

LYSET VENDER TILBAGE

THE LIGHT RETURNS

Keld Jensen

Nr. 08, februar 2026

No. 08, February 2026

Lyset vender tilbage

Vi nærmer os slutningen af februar måned. Nu er dagen tiltaget med mere end tre timer. Virkningen er mærkbar. Solen er nået højere op på himlen og når nu med sine stråler ind i mine stuer.

De store vejrsystemer over landet er også under forandring. Efter en meget lang periode med frostgrader døgnet rundt og temperaturer helt ned under ti graders Celsius om natten, så melder meteorologerne nu om varmegrader.

I morgen forudser vejrmeldingen blandingsvejr med tøsne og senere regn. Om ikke så mange dage vil de store mængder sne igen være forsvundet.

Det barske vintervejr har jeg mærket på dyrelivet omkring mit hus. Dåhjortenes spor finder jeg overalt, efter at de ved morgengry fouragerer omkring de steder, hvor jeg har lagt foder ud. På fuglebrættet har besøget været ekstremt stort. Store flokke af stillidser og grønirisk. Solsorte har slået sig ned i de lave buske omkring haven, og nu har selv den sky musvåge fundet vej til at jage i min have.

De små frække egern bemægtiger sig deres del af de lækre solsikkekerner. Når du kommer ned fra skoven på besøg, så må alle fuglene vige og se misundeligt til på tilstrækkelig afstand.

Ugens foto er fra februar måned i 2026 fra haven omkring mit hus.

The Light Returns

We are approaching the end of the month of February. The day has now lengthened by more than three hours. The effect is noticeable. The sun has climbed higher in the sky and now reaches into my living rooms with its rays.

The large weather systems over the country are also changing. After a very long period of round-the-clock frost and temperatures dropping to below minus ten degrees Celsius at night, meteorologists are now forecasting above-freezing temperatures.

Tomorrow, the weather report predicts mixed conditions with sleet and later rain. In just a few days, the large amounts of snow will once again have disappeared.

I have felt the harsh winter weather in the wildlife around my house. I find the tracks of fallow deer everywhere after they forage at dawn around the places where I have put out feed. The bird table has been extremely busy. Large flocks of goldfinches and greenfinches. Blackbirds have settled in the low shrubs around the garden, and now even the shy common buzzard has found its way to hunt in my garden.

The small, cheeky squirrels claim their share of the delicious sunflower seeds. When they come down from the forest to visit, all the birds must give way and watch enviously from a safe distance.

This photos of the week are from February 2026, photographed in the garden around my house.

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev,
February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev,
February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

Kongerslev, februar 2026

The village Kongerslev, February 2026

KOLOFON

Ugens foto: Lyset vender tilbage
Af Keld Jensen

PDF Version 1
Oprindeligt publiceret februar 2026

Alle billeder og tekst © 2026 Keld Jensen

COLOPHON

Photo of the week: The Light Returns
By Keld Jensen

PDF Version 1
Originally Published February 2026

All images and text © 2026 Keld Jensen