Farverig

Midten af september er en farverig tid i Sydgrønland. Nattefrosten har for længst indfundet sig, og frosten har givet al vegetation efterårets farver. Træer og buske bærer farver i alle nuancer indenfor skalaen brun, gul, orange og rød. Disse efterårsfarver matcher smuk mod den blåsorte, våde klippe på dalens bredder.

Et sted kan være en ny oplevelse, hver gang vi besøger stedet. Årstiderne, vejrforholdene og såmænd også vores egen evne til at fornemme stedet på netop den dag, vi er på besøg.

Paradis dalen ved bygden Narsarsuaq i Sydgrønland er denne septemberdag så farverig og smuk, at det er vanskeligt at begribe. Om få uger vil her måske ligge et tykt lag sne og give landskabet et helt andet, men lige så smukt udtryk, når alt er dækket af is og den reneste hvide sne.

Colourful

Mid-September is a colourful time in South Greenland. Long since the night frost has arrived, and the frost has given all vegetation the colours of autumn. The trees and the shrubs bear colours of all shades within the scale of brown, yellow, orange and red. These autumn colours match beautifully against the blue-black, wet rock on the slopes of the valley.

A place may be a new experience every time we visit the place. The seasons, the weather conditions and even our own ability to sense the place on the very day we pass by.

On this September day the valley, Paradisdalen, at the settlement of Narsarsuaq in South Greenland is so colourful and beautiful that it is incomprehensible. In a few weeks, there may be a thick layer of snow here and the snow will give the landscape a completely different, but just as beautiful look, when everything is covered with ice and the purest white snow.
